STATE HEALTH COMMISSIONER HERE TODAY

One new case of smallpox and two new suspects made their appearance in Bridgeport last night, making a total of 65 positive cases. The city authorities are being careful in that town.

Dr. John T. Black, State Health Commissioner, was in Bridgeport today looking over the local situation. "I have kept in close touch with the situation here and I have felt that the Bridgeport Board of Health has been handling things to the complete satisfaction of the State Board of Health. The deliberate and scientific manner in which they have taken hold of the situation is to be commended especially in the face of certain opposition which has been very apparent. The outbreak itself seems to be pretty well under control and as far as the school population is concerned is probably quite under control. There will undoubtedly be a few scattering cases but no large outbreak unless it occurs among an unvaccinated group. "I expect to see several cases in the hospital not as a matter of diagnosis but simply for personal information. I am studying the character of the outbreak. We are especially fearful of an outbreak taking on a more serious character at this time as the present epidemic of the disease in Kansas City is showing 13 per cent. fatalities. All outbreaks of recent years in Connecticut, including the present

FARMERS' BLANKS ARE NOW READY

Farmers' schedule blanks to be attached to Form 109-A which are now being sent out from Internal Revenue headquarters in Hartford are ready for release at the Internal Revenue office in the Federal building according to an announcement made this morning by Division Chief William J. O'Connell.

Collector Robert O. Eaton started mailing the income tax report blanks yesterday to every individual who filed a report last year and no new blanks will be given out at the Bridgeport office to persons who filed reports last year because it is imperative that the same serial number be used. Only persons who have never filed income reports will be given new blanks.

TOLD OF LIFE IN ANTARCTIC

Perilous explorations into remote parts of the Antarctic region, hazardous experiences on old whalers and the romantic life in countries of which little is known, were interestingly explained and described last evening at the High school by Robert Cushman Murphy, famous curator, who spoke on "The Way of the Sperm Whaler." The lantern slides which were used as illustrations were beautifully colored from notes and specimens taken during the joint expedition of the Brooklyn Museum and the American Museum of Natural History. The next lecture under the auspices of the High School Alumni association will be given Thursday, February 2nd, when Russell H. Conwell will speak on "Acres of Diamonds." UNDERWOOD CO. SUBMITS APPEAL Hartford, Jan. 20.—Giving a valuation of $1,500,000, in comparison with a valuation of $2,442,700 by the assessors, Charles D. Rice, manager of the Underwood Typewriter Co., submitted yesterday to the board of assessors an appeal from the assessment levied on the land and buildings July 1, 1921. In the list filed with the assessors September 14, 1921, signed by C. L. Rosseter, vice-president, the value was given as $880,000.
